*Yearbooks hold the past it seems,
What we were and future dreams.
Pictures freeze a frame in time,
memories here are yours and mine.*

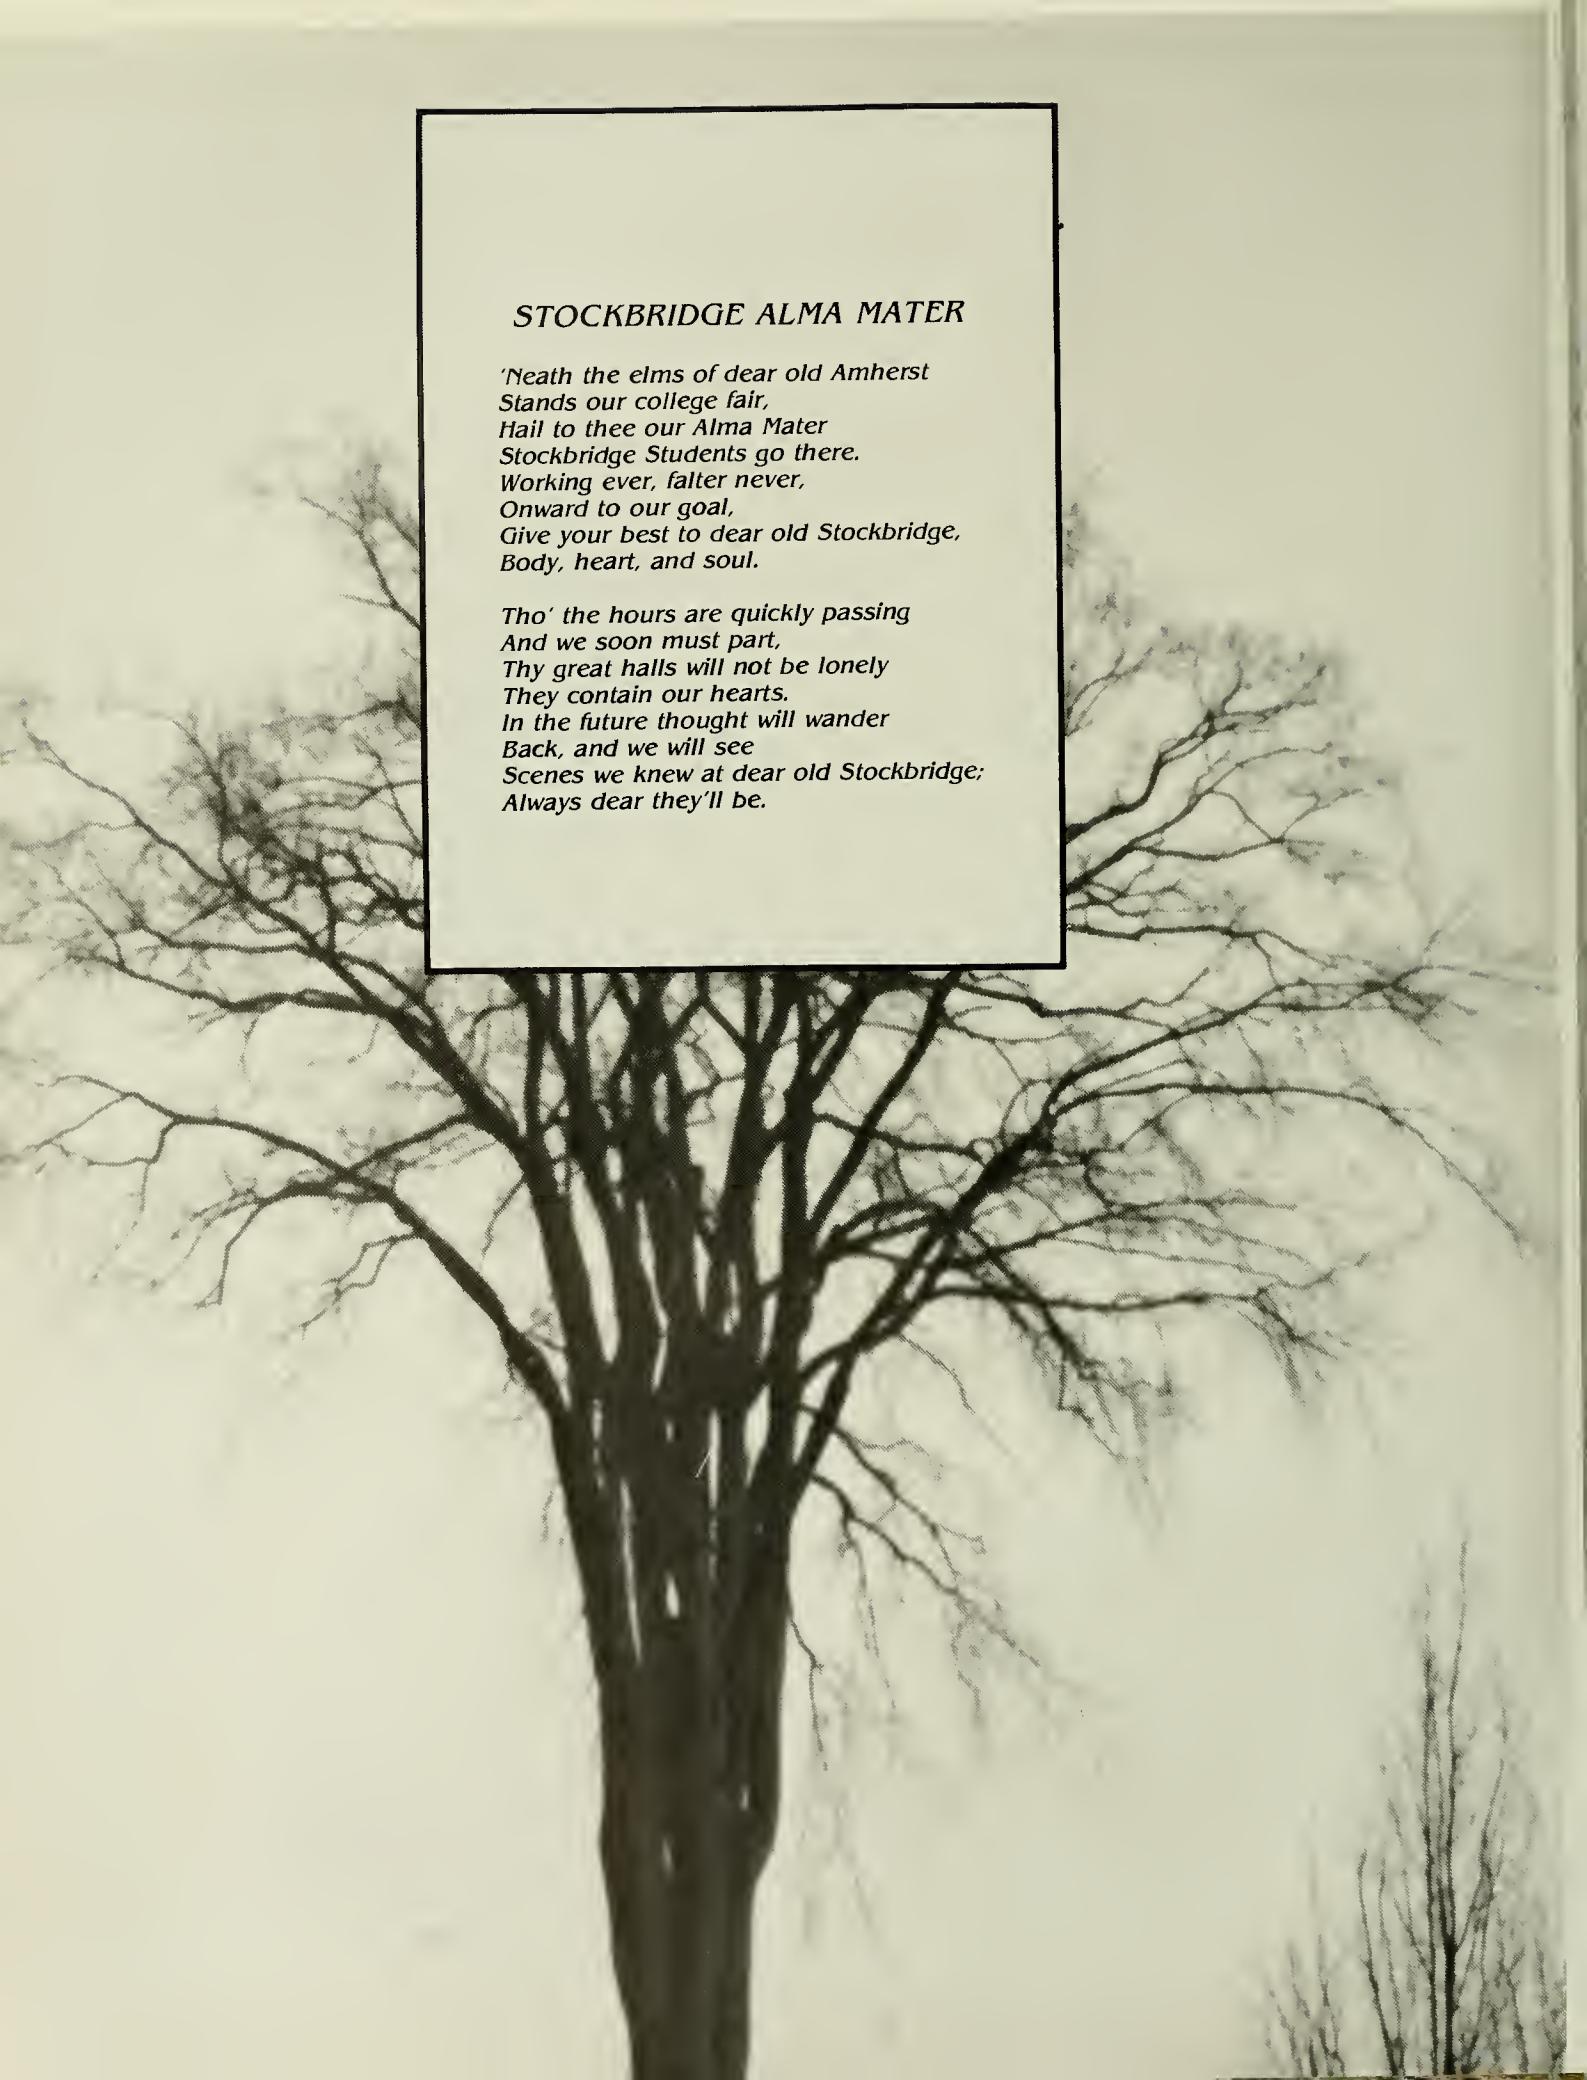

*So look and learn of days gone by,
your sure to feel a tear dropped eye.
All these pictures, memories past,
Stockbridge stage and we the cast.*

*Friends we made will always be,
preserved throughout the ages.
Friends we make and never see;
preserved within these pages.*

*Remember well the Stockbridge Hall,
and all the faces we recall.
Remember well the best two years,
when Stockbridge showed us our true peers.*

*Thank-you yearbook and its crew,
Stockbridge shows its gratitude.
Thank-you yearbook with its past,
Pictured friends that last and last.*

Brian McFay

STOCKBRIDGE ALMA MATER

*'Neath the elms of dear old Amherst
Stands our college fair,
Hail to thee our Alma Mater
Stockbridge Students go there.
Working ever, falter never,
Onward to our goal,
Give your best to dear old Stockbridge,
Body, heart, and soul.*

*Tho' the hours are quickly passing
And we soon must part,
Thy great halls will not be lonely
They contain our hearts.
In the future thought will wander
Back, and we will see
Scenes we knew at dear old Stockbridge;
Always dear they'll be.*

Dedication

This year the class of 1988 wishes to dedicate this yearbook in memory of Greg Pratt. He was a classmate and friend to many. Those who knew him are well aware of his abilities to brighten up any surrounding. Whether he was sitting in a classroom, bopping around campus or cruisin' in his BMWer, Greg made the most of every moment.

*Greg, wherever you are we know you're smiling.
We will miss you!*

The Class of 1988

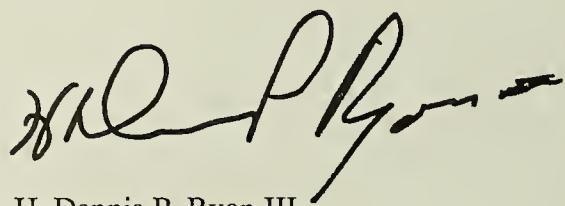

Congratulations To The Class of 1988

You are now part of a tradition that started in 1918 - you are a Stockbridge Alumni. No matter what career choices you make in the future; education, business or the military, always remember where you started and be proud of being a "stockie"!

I encourage you to become active in the Alumni Association and the professional associations of your major. In this way the associations will continue to improve and be supportive of the horticultural and agricultural industries of New England. When you meet young people who are interested in these areas, encourage them to attend Stockbridge.

On behalf of the College, Faculty, and Staff, I congratulate you. If we can assist you in your career, please feel free to call upon us.

H. Dennis P. Ryan III

Acting Director

Arbor and Park, Class of 1968

Karen Cerow

Elizabeth Wiernasz

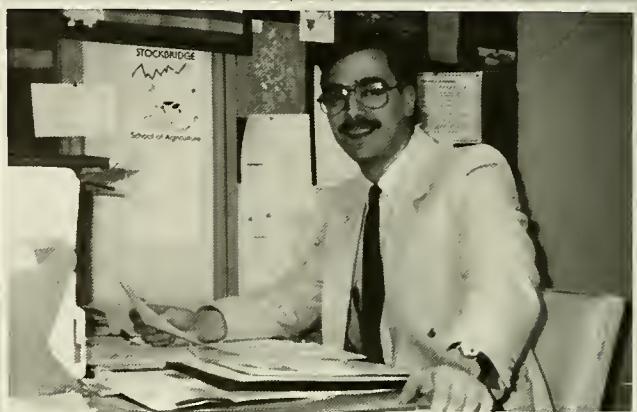

The class of 1988 were fortunate enough to have two very special secretaries working in the Stockbridge main office. Liz and Karen were not just your ordinary secretaries. Aside from being exceptional administrators and organizers; they acted as advisors and most importantly as friends. The care and understanding exhibited by Karen and Liz was heart felt by all students. The class of 1988 is very appreciative of their extra special efforts. We all wish you both the very best that life can offer.

A Special Thanks To Two Dedicated People . . .

Nancy Garrabrants

Frank Pomata

Nancy Garrabrants and Frank Pomata are two people who have helped the activities of Stockbridge run smoothly.

Nancy, our Faculty Advisor, has attended senate meetings providing us with workable information along with administrative advice.

Frank, our Student Activity Advisor, has been very helpful. He constantly checks in with us to make sure our activities are running smoothly, he makes himself available for consultation, even when his schedule is full, and he offers us continuous creative ideas!

Without Nancy and Frank's support, guidance, and enthusiasm in Stockbridge, 1987-1988 could not have run so smoothly. THANK YOU!

*Memories are gifts we share
With the friends we've come to know.
The fondness that we have now
Like the weeds can only grow.*

*Eighty six through eighty-eight
Were the years that went by fast,
Looking back with everyone
Seeing friendships that will last.*

*We have looked at leaves and roots and everything in between
We have seen the trees so bare
Over night turning so green.*

*We have studied everything
From the books we've grown to trust,
And we know that there is more
To learn from what's inside of us.*

*Stockbridge is here and now
For us it will always be
The school that brought us close
And created life long memories.*

Alpha Tau Gamma

The Alpha Tau Gamma fraternity was founded in 1919. We are the only social fraternity exclusively for the Stockbridge School of Agriculture students. This makes our fraternity unique, for all members deal with agriculture in some way or another. We are always willing to lend a helping hand to each other. This makes very strong bonds between the Brothers that last a lifetime.

Our social calendar found Alpha Tau Gamma hosting many parties such as the Halloween party, Stockbridge Fall Picnic, Beach party, Christmas party and St. Patrick Day party. But as Brothers know the highlight of the year is the Pledge Formal, which is an annual banquet for all Brothers of Alpha Tau Gamma.

While attending Stockbridge the Brothers became a very close knitted group for many reasons. For the most part one might think that after Stockbridge these close ties might dissipate. Well, the answer is no! The Brotherhood does not just cease after Stockbridge, but continues to grow. Our bonds continue throughout life and open many doors into our professional career.

The Active Chapter has always been very involved with Stockbridge. We take great pride in our experience while attending Stockbridge and will continue to throughout the existence of Alpha Tau Gamma.

Stockbridge . . .

Past And Present

Sixty Years Of Stockbridge: A History

As early as 1855, there was interest in the founding of an agricultural college in Massachusetts. In 1860, Levi Stockbridge and William S. Clark were selected to represent a group of citizens interested in having an agricultural college on the banks of the Connecticut River.

In the midst of the Civil War, President Lincoln approved the enactment of the Morrill Land Grant Act of 1862. The act provided land for each state to establish a so-called Land Grant college. The legislature granted a charter for the founding of an agricultural college on April 28, 1863.

There was considerable debate between the towns of Amherst, North Hampton, Springfield and Lexington on the location of the college. Finally, on September 13, 1864 Amherst was chosen as the site. On October 3rd of the same year a house and parcel of land was purchased by the trustees of the college. This house survives today as the original Stockbridge House.

The Massachusetts Agricultural College was guided in its infant years by presidents Henry Flagg French, Paul Ansel Chadbourne, William S. Clark and Charles L. Flint, respectively. The names of some buildings on campus bear witness to their strong guidance in the early years. Levi Stockbridge was elected as the fifth president of the M.A.C. in 1880.

Levi Stockbridge was born on a North Hadley farm in 1820. He came from a proud New England family; though ambitious for all of their children, they were only able to send one to college. Levi's older brother Henry attended Amherst College. Although not able to attend college, Levi did not let this setback dampen his ambitions. Instead, he studied the same lessons as his brother and attended several of the same lectures at Amherst College while continuing to work with his father on the farm.

After making a successful attempt at running his own farm, he began writing agricultural related articles for local newspapers in 1848. Several years later, the town of Hadley sent both he and William S. Clark to the State Legislature to advocate for the establishment of an agricultural college. The efforts of these two men as well as the signing of the Morrill Land Grant Act; led to the financing of the Massachusetts Agricultural College and its subsequent location in Amherst.

At the age of 37, Levi Stockbridge was elected the first faculty member as farm superintendent and instructor in agriculture. Due to his early efforts the first buildings were erected. This was a difficult task to say the least, since there were no other models to follow at this time. His efforts led to the founding of the Department of Agriculture and later in 1871 he was made the first professor of agriculture. These accomplishments are quite remarkable considering that he never attained a formal education. Coinciding, when he undertook instruction of agriculture to students there was not another person like himself he could turn to for advice. He combined the sciences of chemistry, botany and geology into one and taught them to his students in a practical sense as they related to agriculture. He lectured not only to the students of the college, but also the farmers of the land.

From 1872 to 1882 he held the office as professor of agriculture at M.A.C. From 1880 to 1882 he was president of the college. During these years, he conducted several experiments with chemical fertilizers. The manufacture and marketing of these fertilizers led to an increased interest in research from the agricultural community. At the time, there were several centers of agricultural research in Europe and parts of the United States. In 1878, an agricultural experiment station was established solely through a $1000 donation by Levi Stockbridge. The money provided for the station was obtained through the sales of his fertilizers. Following his resignation as president four years later, the Massachusetts legislature having been convinced of the importance of agricultural research appropriated $3000 for the construction of the Massachusetts State Agricultural Experiment Station at Amherst. This was the first such station affiliated with a state university in the United States. Seeing the benefits of this facility, Congress passed the Hatch Act in 1887 which allotted federal funds for the establishment of agricultural experiment stations at every Land Grant college.

As early as 1967, short courses were taught on subjects related to agriculture. These early classes lasted anywhere between one day to ten weeks. In 1893 a two year course was organized, but due to a lack of interest from the agricultural community it proved unsuccessful.

Finally, in 1906 the school as we know it today came closer to reality under the guidance of then president Kenyan L. Butterfield. He selected William D. Hurd from Michigan to coordinate the extension service at the M.A.C. due to Hurd's efforts to improve the quality of the short courses offered; an educational foundation was set down. In 1918, a two-year course in practical agriculture was established by an act of the legislature. It stated that upon completion of the program a certificate of graduation shall be granted.

Professor John Phelan was appointed as the first director of the short courses in 1918. The first catalogue was published at this time with a list of ten courses offered. The program was offered on a two-year basis consisting of 15 months of class work combined with 6 months of farm practice; placement training as we know it today. In 1921, the two-year course was reorganized to meet a greater demand for agricultural specialization. The early seven majors were Animal Husbandry, Dairy Manufacturing, Floriculture, Horticulture, Pomology, Poultry and Vegetable Gardening. Over the years, such majors as Home Economics, Hotel and Restaurant Management, Wildlife Management, Forestry, Food Management, Wood Utilization/Technology, Lumber and Laboratory Animal Technology have been offered. Presently seven majors exist, they are Agricultural Business Management, Animal Science, Arboriculture and Park Management, Floriculture, Fruit and Vegetable, Landscape Operations and Turfgrass Management.

In 1915, after five years of planning Stockbridge Hall was dedicated in honor of Levi Stockbridge. Recognized as the first professor of agriculture at M.A.C., he passed away in 1904 after many remarkable accomplishments. It seemed fitting that the grandest building on campus would bear his name. The formal dedication was given by William H. Bowker on October 29, 1915. He himself was a member of the first class of 1867 and a student of Levi Stockbridge. In the dedications tion, he was remembered as a man who . . . "Saw beyond his work. He saw its possibilities, the ultimate outcome. He knew that what he was doing in the field was crude, but he knew it was the beginning of better things." In 1928, the two-year course at M.A.C. was renamed the Stockbridge School of Agriculture in memory of its early pioneer.

In addition to academics, Stockbridge students have participated in many extracurricular activities over the years. These activities consisted of clubs, athletic teams, yearbook and student council. Alpha Tau Gamma and Kolony Klub fraternities originated in 1919. A.T.G. continues to be active to this date; however, K.K. closed its doors in 1958. Sororities on campus have had a storied history. It began in 1920 with Alpha Sigma Delta and changed over the years to Sigma Sigma Sigma as well as Sigma Sigma Delta.

The school year 1920-21 will be remembered as the first year of the football, basketball and baseball teams. In addition, hockey was begun in 1927 and was followed by track in 1930. World War II interrupted all school activities, most especially athletics. Soccer was initiated in 1962 after the final football game was played in 1961. A golf team has been active sporadically throughout the 60's, 70's and 80's. Today, basketball has remained as the only athletic link to the past under the guidance of coach Jack Leaman.

The first yearbook was published by the class of 1921. It was called the Shorthorn and remained as such until 1956. In 1957, the name of the yearbook was changed to Stosag. The honor society was known as Stosag from 1937 to 1962, but changed to Lear in 1963 with the Yearbook assuming the title Stosag. Since 1955, the progress banquet has served as an occasion for presenting athletic, academic and service awards to students. In 1962, a weekly newspaper began publication and was known as the Shorthorn.

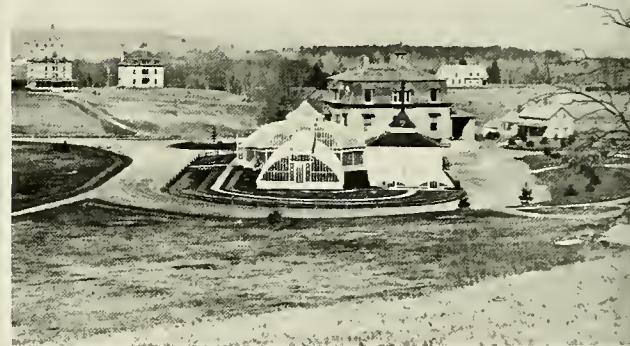

Our student senate is a disciple of the first student council founded in 1919. Probably the senate's greatest achievement centered around the replacement of the certificate of graduation with an associate degree. The class of 1961 was the first to receive this honor. In later years, it was officially changed to an associate of science degree.

Over the years, the Stockbridge School of Agriculture has seen numerous changes occur. However, it still survives as one of the few two-year agricultural programs in the country to present its graduates with an associate of science degree. A quote taken from Stosag '75 states . . . "Take pride while you are here as students. Memories are gentle things, soft and simple: quiet things, wondering and wistful things lost in the eye of a moment."

- David Westhaver dedicates these years of hard work to Stevie.

Editor's Note . . .

Organization and Time Management have always been my weak points, so when I agreed to be Editor of STOSAG 1988, I thought I was crazy! Luckily, I was fortunate enough to have a fun, enthusiastic and creative staff (see pages 42 & 43). But the yearbook would not have been possible, or at least on time, with out the extra efforts of a few people.

I owe my life to the following people: Don Lendry for keeping me on a schedule, and always being available for any simple/complex questions; my room-mate Chris Thomas for helping me take senior portraits; Tom Barnard for his "I'll do anything, just ask" attitude; Russ Keirsted and Eric Sacon for their dependability and efforts in compiling the history of Stockbridge; Brett Armstrong for being my right-hand man. There was never a time that he would not be right there to help me. And lastly, thank you to Larry Harty for the countless hours he worked in the office with me doing lay-outs and buying me coffee!!!!

Thanks guys, you made the efforts enjoyable, and I love the friendships that resulted from it all!
